

Mother For 20th Time

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP)—"I'm glad it was a girl because it kind of balances the brood out," said Mrs. Robert Hamlin Wednesday.

The 39-year-old Fairfield woman became a mother for the 20th time Tuesday night when she gave birth to a 9-pound, 2-ounce baby girl.

The Hamlins have 11 boys and 9 girls, ranging in age from 1 day to 22 years.

The father, 41, is a truck driver.

Wife Watches Husband Die

NEW YORK (AP)—A man with his hand caught in a subway car door was dragged the length of a station platform and fatally crushed against a tunnel wall Wednesday.

His wife, inside the car, screamed helplessly as she saw her staggering husband banged against a pillar and a railing, then pulled into the dark tunnel.

The train stopped 100 feet inside the tunnel when a passenger pulled the emergency cord.

The victim, Melvin Walker, 43, and his wife were boarding the train at the 81st street station. Mrs. Walker got in, but the door closed on her husband's hand.

'No Settlement' In Rail Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson reported "no settlement yet" Wednesday in the railroad labor crisis. But the President said he still hopes for agreement before a nationwide strike threat resumes next week.

Johnson said labor and management negotiators in five days of emergency White House bargaining talks "have narrowed the area of difference on some of the issues."

1,000 Students Raise Havoc

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP)—State highway patrolmen moved into Maryville in force Wednesday to prevent further student rioting at Northwest Missouri State College.

For two consecutive nights more than 1,000 students have held noisy, stone-throwing demonstrations in the downtown area over what they claim is the poor quality of food served by the college.

N. Y. Physicist Shot In Heart

NEW YORK (AP)—A Columbia University nuclear physicist with a brilliant academic background was found shot to death with a single bullet through the heart shortly after dawn Wednesday in Central Park.

All day and into the night, a force of 15 detectives sought to retrace a mystery trail that began when Charles Gallagher Jr., 31, left his Manhattan home for a meeting and ended when violent death overtook him in a clump of bushes in the park.

Mrs. Mock Nears Journey's End

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A jubilant 39-year-old Columbus, Ohio, housewife ended a Pacific Ocean crossing in her single-engine plane Wednesday and closed in on her goal of being the first woman ever to fly solo around the world.

Mrs. Jerrie Mock, who left Columbus eastward March 19, arrived at Oakland International Airport at 1:05 p. m. after a 2,400-mile flight of 17 hours, 39 minutes from Honolulu. She thus became the first woman ever to fly alone across the Pacific.

She hopes to wind up her globe-circling feat of more than 22,000 miles by Friday—achieving a first for her sex which actually began as a jest.

Stock Market Edges To Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market averages edged to record highs Wednesday while once again more stocks fell than rose on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was fairly active.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.48 to 823.43, topping the previous closing high of 824.76 reached April 6. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .10 to 80.09, bettering the previous high of 80.02, also made April 6.

Volume was 5.31 million shares compared with 5.13 million Tuesday.

Ex-Illinois Gov. Stratton Charged With Tax Evasion

CHICAGO (AP)—In a surprise post-primary election action, a former Republican governor of Illinois was accused Wednesday of a $16,676 personal income tax evasion.

He is William G. Stratton, 50, former boy wonder of Illinois politics who has been living the life of a gentleman farmer and stockman since his defeat in 1960 for a third term as governor.

The Democrat who defeated him, Gov. Otto Kerner, said the federal grand jury action against Stratton would hurt the Republican party at the Illinois polls in November. Kerner was renominated without opposition Tuesday in the Illinois primary.

The grand jury which has been investigating Stratton's accounts since last year voted the indictment April 9 but ordered it suppressed until Wednesday morning. Edward Hanrahan, U.S. district attorney, said the indictment was kept a secret to insure orderly conduct of Tuesday's primary voting.

William A. Barnett, Stratton's attorney, issued the following statement in behalf of the former governor: "My affairs have been under investigation for several years by the Internal Revenue Service. Agents have come to see me many times. I have talked to them completely and fully. I have never denied them access to my records and have always answered their questions honestly and completely.

"There may be some technical differences of opinion between my counsel and the internal revenue agents, but with respect to the charge that is made against me in the indictment, I do not believe I have done anything wrong whatsoever."

Stratton served as governor from 1952, when Adlai E. Stevenson dropped his Democratic campaign for re-election to seek the presidency, until 1960. The indictment covered the last four years of Stratton's tenure but gave no hint of the possible source of more than $30,500 in income it accused him of concealing. His salary as governor was $25,000 a year.

Internal Revenue Service investigators said Stratton paid $23,311.83 in taxes for the years 1957-1960 when he should have paid $69,987.94.

Hanrahan said the IRS inquiry into Stratton's financial affairs followed a normal course and agents had discussed with him.

"He had an opportunity to pay," Hanrahan said.

Johnson On TV At 4:30 Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson will hold a news conference at 4:30 p. m. EST Thursday in the State Department Auditorium.

Presidential press secretary George Reedy said the news conference is being made available for live radio and television.

The National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System said they will carry the conference live on both television and radio.

The American Broadcasting Co. will carry it live on radio and by film on television from 5 to 5:30 p. m.

LBJ Chews On Cigarettes, But Won't Smoke Them

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, a nonsmoker for nearly nine years, occasionally surprises people by dangling an unlit cigarette from his mouth. Johnson's most recent public appearance with a cigarette, at the annual dinner of the White House Press Photographers Association earlier this month, sparked a rumor that he was "smoking again."

George Reedy, White House press secretary, said Wednesday that Johnson has not smoked a single cigarette since his 1955 heart attack. But Reedy said the President occasionally picks up a cigarette and chews on it, without ever touching a match to it.

At the photographers dinner, Johnson found a complimentary packet of cigarettes at his place and, while watching a program of entertainment, idly opened it and stuck one in his mouth.

Because the lights were dimmed during the entertainment, many people in the hall thought the President was smoking. Johnson apparently is most likely to chew on a cigarette when he is required to sit and not talk. In a sense, it may be a fidgeting gesture.

"I gave up cigarette smoking because the doctor recommended that I do so," said Johnson in a television interview last month. "And I have missed it every day, but I haven't gone back to it, and I'm glad that I haven't."

He retired in 1950 and for the next 10 years taught in several different medical schools and conducted outstanding research work for the government. He was associated with the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery at Des Moines, Iowa.

Dr. Beutner is survived by his wife, Hermine (Eye) Beutner; two sons, Dr. Karl R. Beutner, of Vallejo, Calif., and Dr. Ernst H., of Buffalo, N. Y.; one sister, Miss Auguste Beutner, of New York City; two brothers, one in West Germany and one in Brazil; six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be announced by the Frey funeral home of South Sterling.

Red China Beefs Up Troops Along Soviet Union Border

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China has sent substantial troop reinforcements to Sinkiang and has cleared and fortified a belt 20 miles deep along hundreds of miles of the disputed border with the Soviet Union, White Russian refugees said Wednesday.

The refugees from the remote region of northwest China reported the two feuding giants of world communism are waging a propaganda war across the border and tension runs high.

Propaganda Fight

They gave this picture: Soviet broadcasts boast that some Sinkiang border areas eventually will be incorporated into the Soviet Union. The Chinese denounce Premier Khrushchev, calling him "a good friend of the Americans" and who deceived China by reneging on his promises of Soviet aid.

In their feud over the best road to world Communist domination, Peking and Moscow frequently have lifted the curtain on their private cold war in Sinkiang.

The refugees, who reported they abruptly were allowed to leave Sinkiang recently after a four-year ban, gave what they said was a firsthand account of the struggle in on corner of the vast region. There were 125 White Russians in the party that reached Hong Kong after 12 days on buses and trains.

Riots Suppressed

They came from Iliing, 50 miles from the Soviet frontier, where Moslem minorities revolted and were bloody suppressed on May, 1962.

They gave his account of events leading up to the blood shed in Kuldja.

Soviet consular and military representatives in Kuldja had worked for years on the Moslems, indoctrinating them and urging they go to the Soviet Union. Then in 1950, the Soviet consulate began distributing passports to all Moslems.

A flood of Moslems began to cross into the Soviet Union. There were rumors in Kuldja that 500,000 to 600,000 crossed. Soviet sources have put the figure somewhat lower while Red China says 50,000.

Chinese Alarmed

The alarmed Chinese then decided to clamp down, and that led to the rioting in Kuldja. Rumors reaching the West said the Moslems assembled outside the Soviet consulate and demanded aid for an independence movement. The refugees account differed.

By this account, the Moslems were angered because Chinese authorities refused to give them exit permits.

The Moslems massed before Chinese government and party headquarters, then poured through the gates, smashed windows, ransacked offices, beat up Moslem employees, and looted government stores of bread and wine.

"They were angry because the government had fed them corn while officials ate bread and drank wine," one White Russian said.

Plan Changed

Stroud Union OKs $3,385,000 Bonds

STROUDSBURG—A negotiated bond issue of $3,385,000 was accepted by the Stroud Union School Board last night.

At the same time the board said it will alter creek diversion plans for a new junior high school because one land owner along Little Pocono Creek balked at signing a right of way agreement.

The bond issue proposal was submitted by a Philadelphia banking firm and included $1,570,000 for the new school and the refunding of two outstanding issues totaling $1,715,000.

The bonding firm, Woodcock, Moyer, Fricker and French, said the refinancing would save the school district $90,206 over the life of the two old issues.

The school board also announced it will seek approval from the state Department of Forest and Waters to change its original plans for creek diversion for the junior high school, which will be located on Giffels Field.

The board was forced to change its original plans for diverting Little Pocono Creek after it became apparent that Paradise Place of East Stroudsburg, who owns land along the creek, would not sign a right of way agreement giving the board the right to divert the creek across his property.

Necessary Consent

Edward Williams, board solicitor, said he has received the necessary consent from the property owners involved and the new plan will be carried out once the department gives its approval.

The board must divert the creek in order to build the new school.

Gordon Pfau, vice president of the bonding firm, told a joint meeting of the board and the Stroudsburg Area School Authority, the bond issue will be floated for 19 and one-half years at an interest rate of 3.40009 per cent.

On the recommendation of the board, the authority accepted the proposal and set May 20, as the target date for completing the issue.

Annual Cost

Under the new setup the school board will pay $237,114 a year to retire the bonds. The state is now paying about 60 per cent of present annual bond payments.

The school district will pay a total of $4,569,085 in principal and interest over the life of the issue.

The First Pennsylvania Co. of Philadelphia will act as bond trustee.

The whole project will depend on the board getting approval on its creek relocation plans and the Department of Public Instruction's approval of the refunding of the two old issues.

Pfau said the issue will be printed in $5,000 denominations and will be fully registered. This means all bondholders will be notified when bonds are called for redemption.

The old bond issues were in $1,000 denominations and were not fully registered. The 1961 issue had a 3.9 per cent interest rate and the 1958 issue a 3.4 per cent rate.

The building program will include, in addition to the junior high school, renovations to the senior high school building and a new athletic stadium.

Commenting on last night's proposal, Dr. John Lin, board secretary, said, "In the past Stroud Union has always enjoyed the lowest interest rate in the county and the school authority has always rendered us the best service."

UN Team Shoots Back On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—U.N. peace-keeping troops came under fire and shot back Wednesday in several sporadic incidents of the warfare between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The day's disorders were reported to have left five persons wounded. Turkish official sources said four of their followers were hit. A Greek woman was injured in Nicosia.

Nikita Khrushchev

Court Action Awaited On Redistricting

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Scranton said Wednesday there will be no special legislative session to reapportion House and Senate seats until the courts finally lay down "correct guidelines."

"Until there is a clear decision, the legislature can only act according to our constitution," the governor said at his weekly news conference.

A special three-judge federal panel ruled last week in Scranton that the 1963 state legislative reapportionment acts are invalid because they are based on requirements the court contends are in violation of the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The Commonwealth plans to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. It already has secured from the three federal judges a stay permitting the holding of primary elections April 28 for House and Senate seats under the 1963 legislation.

"It is clear that I cannot call the legislature into special session until the courts decide whether we are constitutional," Scranton said.

"Here in Pennsylvania, it is important to remember, the legislature and the governor are sworn to uphold the state constitution," he said.

Barry Keeps Firing At McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater kept the Pentagon dispute over U.S. military might rolling Wednesday by accusing President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara of "letting our power lag and slide."

"Unless the defense policies of this administration are changed, the Arizona Republican said, 'we will face a deterrent gap through which the full force of advanced Soviet weapons may be felt.'"

Goldwater's charges, at a presidential primary campaign rally in Long Beach, Calif., came in the wake of McNamara and Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, locking horns over the nation's military standing.

LeMay said in congressional testimony made public Tuesday that the Soviet Union has narrowed the margin of U.S. military superiority.

The Pentagon fired back a statement studded with intelligence estimates on bomber and missile strength, saying the U.S. edge over the Soviet Union is constantly increasing.

Khrushchev Raps Mao As Bungler

MOSCOW (AP) Soviet Premier Khrushchev says Red China now preaches world revolution because Mao Tse-tung and other leaders bungled in trying to solve problems at home.

Peking's policies "have created serious difficulties for the world communist movement and placed it on the verge of a split," he told a Polish-Soviet friendship meeting Wednesday in the Kremlin.

The meeting was an encouraging one for the premier. Wladyslaw Gomulka, the visiting Polish party leader, announced cautious support for the Soviet call for a world Communist showdown meeting on Red China. While backing Moscow, Poland has been reported cool toward a showdown meeting, fearing an irreparable division of world communism.

His voice rising to a shout,

Want Rice

"They say we are the revisionists," Khrushchev said. "But I ask, what do they people want—war or rice? I think they want rice."

The Soviet premier, who will be 70 Friday, obviously was feeling good. Leaving his prepared text, he seemed to enjoy scoffing at the Chinese, sometimes pretending to quote them in an artificial voice, sometimes jabbing his finger at the applauding audience to emphasize a point.

Khrushchev said that the Chinese leaders "are trying to discredit the struggle of the Socialist countries and their Communist parties to advance their economies and raise the living standards of the people."

Jury Gets Beckwith Case Today

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Byron De La Beckwith told an all-white jury Wednesday of a life dedicated to fighting racial integration, but said he was "not concerned about Medgar Evers specifically."

Beckwith's racial views were brought out during a tense, four-hour cross-examination at his second trial on charges he murdered Evers, a Negro leader in the drive to desegregate this Southern state.

The defense followed this with witnesses who said Beckwith was in Greenwood at the time of the slaying, then rested his case.

The all male jury will get the case Thursday, following rebuttal testimony by the state and the usual closing arguments by attorneys.

Senate Restaurant Credit Plan Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said Wednesday the Senate restaurant tightened up its credit policy after he delivered into a $4,248 tab run up by James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union.

The Teamsters paid the bill, Williams said he was told, after four or five months.

Williams said in a Senate speech he questioned "the advisability or the propriety of the Senate's restaurant having extended any credit to Mr. Hoffa."

The senator also criticized the service he said was extended by the restaurant at the 1962 grand opening of Bobby Baker's Carousel Motel in Ocean City, Md.

"The Senate restaurant is not supposed to operate a catering service for a private party in Ocean City, Md., for Mr. Bobby Baker or for any other public official," Williams said.

"When such services are rendered, either in whole or in part, at the taxpayers' expense it is even more subject to criticism."

The restaurant maintained for senators and their guests has a $100,000 annual deficit. The deficit is met by appropriations, a practice that has brought suggestions by some members that the prices charged in the private dining room should be raised.

Williams told the Senate the restaurant's books did not show how much if anything Baker paid for the services of the chef and other personnel who carried food, table linens, cooking utensils and other items to the motel opening.

The only explanation he could think of, Williams said, was that "the service was either rendered free, at government expense, or at a very low rate which they do not wish to reveal."

State News Roundup

Daylight Saving More Popular

HARRISBURG (AP)—All but two of Pennsylvania's communities will conform to daylight saving time this summer, a statewide survey by the state Chamber of Commerce showed Wednesday.

The two are Yatesville, south of Pittston in Luzerne County, and La Jose, sometimes called Newburg—in Clearfield County.

All other communities have indicated they will follow the accepted pattern of daylight saving time, pushing the clock ahead one hour in the last Sunday of April and remaining on fast time until the last Sunday of October.

Yatesville will continue on regular time all year, while La Jose plans to start daylight saving time with the rest of the state, but turn back the clock on the last Sunday of September.

The survey covered 979 communities.

Industries List Site Inducements

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Scranton received another comprehensive study Wednesday on where modern industry would be most likely to locate in Pennsylvania.

The two-year survey was presented to him by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association and listed four basic requirements for attracting new industry into the commonwealth:

"Location near a highway; an abundant labor supply; good land, and proximity to markets."

The report, which analyzed 1,363 plants of all types and sizes, indicated that highway proximity was major among these inducement factors.

Pennsy Growth

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Pennsylvania Railroad announced Wednesday a $5 million modernization program at its Altoona, Pa., area shops designed to establish one of the finest operations in the country for maintenance of diesel locomotives and passenger and freight car repair.

Physical Exam

HARRISBURG (UPI)—Gov. William W. Scranton will take time out from official duties this week for an annual physical checkup.

The governor's office said he will be admitted to Gelsinger Medical Center at Danville for the examination Friday, and will be released the following day.

Mouth Cancer Tests To Begin

HARRISBURG (UPI)—A glass slide and a wood scraper will be the basic tools used by the state Health Department in a three-year program aimed at early detection of mouth cancer.

The department said Wednesday that demonstration programs are planned in the state's seven health regions to show dentists and physicians how to use a wooden blade to get scrapings from suspicious lesions. The scrapings will be put on a glass slide and sent to a pathologist.

Department Secretary Charles E. Wilbur, noting there were 419 deaths last year from cancer of the oral cavity, said the U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department is contributing $120,000 toward the program.

Urge Talks For Chester

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI)—Mayor James Corby asked the Chester school board Wednesday to arrange a meeting with the leaders of civil rights groups to discuss problems which have caused almost continual turmoil during the past three weeks.

The letter to the school district asked that the Chester Human Relations Commission and the West End Ministerial Fellowship also be invited to any meeting arranged, but in the role of observers only.

Shortway Link

HARRISBURG (AP)—Ground breaking ceremonies will be held Thursday near Hazleton for construction of an $8.5 million link between the Keystone Shortway and Anthracite Expressway.

Henry D. Harral, state secretary of highways, will headline the cast of state and local officials at the ceremonies.

State Aims At Fair's Overflow

By DAVE LEHERR
Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania may provide one of the biggest attractions of the 1964-65 World's Fair in New York without even being there.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are being spent to put the state on display in hopes of luring fairbound travelers to its lush garden spots and tourist havens.

Even without an exhibit at the fair itself, state officials are confident they can entice a vast majority of the estimated 70 million visitors to stop off in Pennsylvania.

The confidence stems from a full scale advertising campaign promoted by the state Commerce Department.

Colorful magazine displays portray the scenic side of Pennsylvania with its bubbling brooks, blazing foliage, historical landmarks, and natural paradises.

Catchy headlines such as "fairbound? see fair Pennsylvania too!" or "Poconos: Where honeymoons never end," tell what the commonwealth has to offer.

works for the May 16 regional edition of the Saturday Evening Post to encourage World's Fair travelers to "discover the new Pennsylvania."

The special guide was financed through funds solicited by the "100,000 Pennsylvania for the Promotion of Economic Growth." It will appear in editions covering six eastern states and Washington D.C. with a total circulation of 1.6 million.

Another 500,000 copies will be put at the disposal of the Commerce Department to answer out-of-state queries for information on the commonwealth.

The guide will include maps and specific information about what to do and what to see when in Pennsylvania.

"It's the largest single advertisement ever to appear in print in a national publication anywhere," says Howard Burnett, executive assistant to John K. Tabor, state secretary of commerce.

Pictured on the cover of the spectacular publication will be a brilliant sunset over the Delaware River at Washington Crossing State Park in Eastern Pennsylvania.

The "Self-Pennsylvania" pitch is the brainchild of the Department of Commerce.

Biggest of the contributions from Pennsylvania industry is the unisphere, a 13-story globe of the earth, symbol of the 1964-65 World's Fair, planned and built by the American Bridge Division of U.S. Steel, part in Pittsburgh and part in the Harrisburg area.

Other industries also will provide impressive displays. As the fair prepares for its big opening date April 22, Pennsylvania continues its tantalizing sales pitch.

Physicians are aware of the poisonous qualities of such agents as carbon tetrachloride, methyl alcohol and the organic phosphorous compounds.

Almost Human Local Dog Stirs Mayo Clinic

By JEFF COX

STROUDSBURG — Jerry Avlon, Stroudsburg toy importer, walked into the Mayo Clinic recently carrying his dachshund, Dovie.

He said the dog was sick, and needed blood.

The following scene was strictly out of the Marx Brothers: the nurses protested, doctors came, the clinic was in an uproar, and then Avlon pulled the dog's head off.

"When they found out the dog was not real," Avlon said, "there were 350 people screaming and laughing."

Currently, the toy importer is taking Dovie with him on his travels in this country and others. He says, "the dog is so real-looking, nobody can believe it when I show them it's a toy."

The dog is made in West Germany, is actual puppy-size, and its head rolls and rolls because it is suspended from inside the body of the toy. The eyes are bright and glassy.

Nose Warm
"I had one man believing the dog was real," Avlon said. "I told him the dog was sick and he felt its nose. 'Yes,' the man said, 'I think its nose is a little warm.'"

Avlon was born in Athens, Greece, 57 years ago. He served as a steward in the Merchant Marine, and came to Stroudsburg in 1948. Since then, he has been building his toy importing business.

According to Avlon, Dovie has been the most fun of any of his imports. He first saw the toy in a Paris nightclub about two years ago, and immediately laid plans to bring the dog to this country.

Now he has a backlog of experiences with the sham-puppy that could keep Will Rogers talking for three hours.

He has paraded the dog into the city rooms of the Atlanta Constitution and the Boston Herald; when he goes to department stores to dicker with buyers, Dovie goes, too.

"After I've fooled a man so badly," Avlon says, speaking of the buyers he has spoofed, "how can I deal with him?" One of his favorite stories concerning the dog is set in Atlanta, Georgia.

"I was outside a restaurant with the dog, and I called a waitress outside. I told her the puppy was hungry."

"She went to the kitchen and got a cup of milk. Then she went back to have the milk warmed; then she went back to get some bread to crumble into the milk."

"What a look on her face when I pulled the dog's head off," Avlon says.

"I've put the dog on the rear window ledge of my car, and sometimes people will wave to it as we drive along."

Exclusive Imports
Dovie's not the only play in

Avlon's bag of tricks, though. His Stroudsburg office is cluttered with clowns that ride tightropes, Indians that pound drums and yelp war cries, a toy dog dressed as a magician that turns an egg into a chicken and back again, and a dog that pokes its head out of a basket and sinks back.

Most of these toys, and many others, are Avlon's exclusive imports. Dovie is Avlon's to distribute where he will in this country. It's a big business, for kids keep coming along looking for toys and tricks.

Knowing Avlon, however, there's always the suspicion that Dovie won't remain his main mirth-making device forever. As the saying goes, he's got more tricks up his sleeve than a crooked bridge player.

DOUBLE TROUBLE — Jerry Avlon, Stroudsburg toy importer, cuddles his exclusive import, Dovie the dachshund, on an Atlanta, Ga. street. The dog has caused a lot of confusion around the country, mainly because it's a toy.

Incorporation Approved

HARRISBURG — Articles of Incorporation have been approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth for Lenape Holding Company, III, N. Seventh St., Stroudsburg.

The firm has been authorized to capitalize at $25,000 to "deal in real estate and real property or interest or rights therein without limitations as to amount."

Incorporators are listed on chapter papers as Dr. Floyd W. Shafer, 731 Sarah St.; Leo A. Achterman, 111 N. Seventh St.; both of Stroudsburg, and Geraldine Singer, RD 2, East Stroudsburg.

No Appeals To State LRB

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The state Labor Relations Board reported this week that there were no exceptions or appeals filed to its 1963 decision.

The statement was in a report presented to Gov. William W. Scranton. The report also showed 107 cases were brought before the board last year, compared with 119 in 1962 and 135 in 1961.

Board Chairman Malcolm B. Poltrikin said the decrease in the number of cases carried over from 1963 "establishes the board's capacity to expeditiously process and dispose of matters brought before it."

Backache relief pills bring mild diuretic action through the kidneys

Senior Peace Corps

Are you a retired businessman, but still going strong? Do you find that you want something constructive to do with the free time you are suddenly faced with?

You may be too old for the Peace Corps. You may flunk the underwater swimming test.

But there may be a place for you in the new, private and non-profit organization called the Executive Service Corps.

It was suggested by David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York City, and encouraged by President Lyndon B. Johnson in his foreign aid message to Congress.

Now a group of leading businessmen, including Rockefeller, is forming a "senior peace corps" for experienced businessmen, not necessarily retired, who want to spend from three months to two years abroad training foreign businessmen in the skills of modern business management.

Although the federal government and its Agency for International Development (AID) were interested in forming the Executive Service Corps, David Rockefeller and some other American businessmen decided to try the idea with free enterprise and no government control or money.

That in itself should be a good example for underdeveloped nations which, because they have little free enterprise capital or industry, have too often started with the assumption that only government-controlled industry can prosper in their countries.

Some companies have already shown an interest in sending younger executives abroad in the Executive Service Corps for the valuable experience it offers.

The volunteer businessmen would not just be advisors. They will actually run divisions or departments or businesses and train a national of the country to take over the job when they leave.

The program is a vital sign of American business taking an interest in free enterprise in the free world. Business skills to run free enterprise economies have not been part of the government foreign aid program.

It has been forgotten, until some foreign country announces that it will nationalize the telephone companies or the laundries. Then we begin to see the need for exporting some of our vaunted business know-how.

If you are a retired businessman, but still going strong, write at once to the Organizing Committee for Executive Service Corps, P. O. Box 530, New York, N. Y.

Sleep In Peace

The Defense Department told the nation Tuesday that we can all sleep in peace—we have increasing superiority in nuclear power over the Russians.

The apparent purpose of the declaration was to squelch arguments of Sen. Barry Goldwater that our missile defenses are unreliable and that we should put more money and faith in manned bombers and ships.

The Democratic administration obviously does not want the Republicans to use the same "missile gap" campaign argument against President Johnson in this election year that the Democrats used against Republicans in the 1960 election.

That would be unfair. So these impressive statistics were released by the Pentagon:

1. The Air Force has 540 nuclear bomb-carrying, long-range bombers constantly on alert. The Soviets have only about 120 heavy bombers and 150 medium bombers that could hit us and return home, and they could only bomb Alaska and northwestern areas.

2. The Air Force has 750 intercontinental ballistic missiles ready to fly. The Soviets have fewer than one-fourth, or about 185, operational.

3. The United States Navy has 192 Polaris missiles in nuclear submarines. The Polaris missiles can be launched underwater and have a range of 1,500 miles.

The Soviets have "substantially fewer" missiles on submarines which must fire them from the surface of the water. Their missiles have a range of less than 500 miles.

These figures were followed by the assuring statement that "our strategic nuclear forces are so large and so powerful as to be capable of absorbing a full first strike directed against them and surviving with sufficient power to completely destroy the aggressor."

How can Barry Goldwater say the Democrats are wrong? How could John F. Kennedy say the Republicans were wrong in 1960 and then declare after he was elected that the "missile gap" did not exist?

The same fact answers both questions—Campaign oratory, without the facts, in a presidential election year.

Comment Of The Day

"Johnson has the better of it. The Republicans are floundering... leaderless. The Republicans are in a pickle. No candidate with real omph, few issues with voter appeal, and prosperity working against them."

—Austin Kiplinger in the Kiplinger Washington Letter for businessmen.

Ouija Bored?

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison
The (State) College Crisis — PART IV.

HARRISBURG — It is perhaps significant that the Legislature at long last is beginning to recognize many of the shortcomings forced upon Pennsylvania's 14 State Colleges in this era of pressing and competitive higher education demands and needs.

For example, shortly before lawmakers adjourned for their current month - of - April - campaign - recess (they'll be back May 4) a bipartisan quartet of members of the House of Representatives introduced a most interesting resolution. Equally significant is the fact that only this past week the Council of Alumni Associations of the State Colleges (representing more than 100,000 graduates in Pennsylvania) unanimously endorsed this resolution.

It will be of considerably more than passing interest to see whether the House of Representatives ultimately approves this resolution. — If it is released to the floor of the House for consideration by the Committee on Rules to which it was referred, of which Majority Leader Kenneth B. Lee, Eagles Mere, Sullivan County, is chairman.

This resolution introduced

March 31 requests three specific actions:

(1) — That the Council of Higher Education take the necessary steps to develop and put into force the educational program already authorized by law; and assist in the development of educational programs requisite for the future;

(2) — That the President and the Boards of Trustees of the 14 State Colleges be granted more autonomy in their fiscal, purchasing and educational programming matters;

(3) — That the Governor's Office consider and develop programs (by legislation if necessary) to grant to the President and Board of Trustees of each of said State Teachers Colleges more latitude and greater freedom in the use of funds as separately appropriated and allocated to them by the General Assembly.

The resolution, it is generally agreed, isn't the full and final answer to the somewhat absurd and antiquated problem facing Pennsylvania's newly blooming (forced) State Colleges — but it does go a long way in spelling out many of the prime needs of these institutions of higher learning if they are to even remotely attempt to fill the role facing them today and tomorrow.

The simple fact is that these 14 State Colleges — forming an almost unbelievable ready - to - go nucleus for helping meet the mushrooming needs of higher education today in the Keystone State — have been forced by bureaucratic interference, red tape and non-intellectual claustrophobia on the State-level, to literally function and operate on the level of yesterday's kindergarten (exaggerated for emphasis, of course!).

It is to the credit of the four lawmakers who introduced the resolution just mentioned (Representatives Amlin A. Alley, R., Columbia County; W. Max Bossert, R., Clinton; Walter H. Morley, D., Philadelphia, and William G. Piper, R., Berks) that "The (State) College Crisis" at last has been brought bluntly to the attention of the Legislature.

And — the subsequent full endorsement of the resolution by the Council of Alumni Association of the State Colleges the other day adds an emphatic and powerful voice to the plea expressed in the legislative branch.

The mind-boggling - level bureaucracy that has dominated and shackled Pennsylvania's 14 State Colleges in the complacent educational past has neither place nor time in the exploding "war babies" boom that now and in the years ahead faces Pennsylvania!

Eight In A Series

Let no one kid you, the Pocono Mountains is the Number One Resort Spot in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The recent Harrisburg seminar on "The Billion Dollar Explosion in Tourism, Recreation and Parks" revealed that state officials, newsmen and plain down-to-earth tourists know about the Poconos and its governing body, the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau.

In fact, the power of the Poconos tends to cut down the "feeling to help" brothers of the cult in the mountains that surround us.

To be sure, the Vacation Bureau and its affiliates get plenty of help from the state, federal government and tentacles of these agencies. But conferences or, if you prefer, bull sessions, with men interested in tourism indicates that the PMVB gets more than its share and "weans out" in the other parts of the state would like to get on the so-called "gravy train."

We're informing you of this sidewalk to show the eastern Poconos and the Vacation Bureau holds in state circles. Also we aim to imbue on Pocono residents that competition is springing up all over the state to take away a piece of the dollars that pour yearly into area resort owners' cash registers.

About Town

Another Day, Another Pound. Pat O'Brien of Hawleyville tells me that leap year which is this year, was organized in 1288 by a Scottish Queen and an edict issued several centuries later said: "Every maiden lady of both high and low estate shall have the liberty to bespeak the man she likes and if he taketh her not he shall be mulcted one pound or less unless he is already betrothed.

The Allen-Scott Report

Hoffa Pressures

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Teamster czar James Hoffa is conducting an extraordinary drive in Congress to muster powerful political pressure behind his demand for a reversal of his recent Chattanooga jury tampering conviction.

This remarkable undercover operation is two-pronged, as follows:

Representative Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., veteran chairman of the influential House Judiciary Committee, has quietly created a special subcommittee to investigate Justice Department prosecution of Hoffa, particularly the Chattanooga case.

Teamster lobbyists are strenuously endeavoring to persuade senators and congressmen to make speeches and issue statements denouncing the conduct of the trial and the Justice Department's numerous legal actions against Hoffa.

Members of Celler's unannounced special investigating subcommittee include himself, chairman, and Representatives Jack Brooks, D-Tex.; James Corman, D-Calif.; William McCulloch, R-O., and James Brownwell, R-Iowa.

All are rated friendly to the Teamster boss.

Another intriguing fact is Brooks' presence on this backstage committee. The Texan is the closest man to President Johnson in the House. Brooks is in constant touch with the President, and is credited by congressional insiders as his choice for Democratic floor leader—if and when a vacancy develops, as is possible in the new Congress that convenes next January.

It is taken for granted that Brooks' participation in this probe of the Justice Department—which is certain to importantly involve Attorney General Robert Kennedy, who has long feuded with Hoffa—means the President is fully informed about it.

Whether he approves is conjectural.

Stoking the Fires—Representative Celler's carefully publicized zeal in going to bat for Hoffa is in striking contrast to his vehement opposition last week to efforts to investigate numerous long-standing charges of commissions and omissions in the enforcement of the immigration laws.

Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., chairman of a Joint Immigration Committee, proposed a sweeping probe and sought $160,000 to conduct it. Celler led a militant fight against it, and narrowly won by a 69 to 69 tie in the House.

To provide ammunition for congressional speeches and pronouncements backing Hoffa in his bitter attack on the Justice Department and Attorney General Kennedy, bulky "packets" of literature and other material are being distributed to hand-picked senators and congressmen.

Most of them are friendly to the Teamsters and/or Hoffa, and a number have received campaign contributions and other support from them.

Included in this propaganda "packet" are the following:

A 12-page slick-paper, extensively illustrated tabloid titled "Drive Reporter." Featuring the front page, with pictures and color illustrations, is an article with a banner caption reading, "Senators, Congressmen Question Use of Spies, Informers in Chattanooga." A sub-caption "Floor Speeches Cite Abuses at Hoffa Trial" is followed with this open sentence, "Powerful forces on Capitol Hill are questioning the government's use of spies, informers and special agents in the Chattanooga trial of General President Hoffa."

Also prominently displayed on the front page are pictures of Senator Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Representative Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., and Roland Libonati, D-Ill. All made floor speeches, which are extensively quoted, assailing the Justice Department.

Also in the "packet" are a reprint of the Congressional Record's account of these speeches; copies of two voluminous extracts from the transcript of the Chattanooga trial; a number of affidavits supporting Hoffa's attack on the Justice Department; and numerous Teamster pamphlets and other literature assailing "labor busters," "compulsory arbitration," Senator John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the investigating committee that exposed many of Hoffa's activities, and an article titled "Are Women Necessary?"

Representative Celler and members of his secret investigating committee are not talking regarding a number of moot questions—the authority for its establishment, its purpose, when hearings will be held and whether they will be public or private, who will be summoned to testify, and if the witnesses will include Hoffa and Attorney General Kennedy.

So far, everything relating to this mysterious committee and probe is shrouded in silence and secrecy.

Stories Behind Words

Make Hay

While The Sun Shines. Hay, the chief winter food of cattle and horses, is made from grasses and other plants such as clover and alfalfa.

Farmers must cut their fields while the plants are still in flower but before the seed matures. By doing this, most of the food matter is retained. The hay is left in the fields for several days for the sun to cure it. This curing process is necessary to keep the hay from spoiling after it is stored.

Hay must be harvested during a period of dry weather, for rain would ruin it. This is the reason for the expression "to make hay while the sun shines" — to make the best use of an opportunity.

Dear Abby

Now Become A Man!

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old boy who is about to be drafted. I am not a coward, but I would just rather not go for two reasons. One is that I am used to my privacy and don't like to have a lot of people around me. The other is I know that I won't be able to adjust to Army life. The only way out, as I see it, is to get married, but I can't seem to find a girl. Can you help me.

LOOKING

DEAR LOOKING: Look, buddy, if every American male ducked military service for the reasons you give, our country would be a sitting duck for its enemies. Your survival would be a bigger problem than your "privacy." And your "adjustment" would be to bondage rather than to a brief hitch for Uncle Sam. Sign up and grow up. It'll do you good!

DEAR ABBY: Would you please put a word in your column explaining to people that widowed and divorced women are still addressed as "Mrs."? So many of my Christmas cards were addressed "Miss," or worse yet, no title whatsoever. This makes my husbandless woman feel like "nothing."

"A MRS."

DEAR MRS. I have written this many times in my column, and I will write it again. Once a woman has been married, unless she arranges to resume her maiden name she is never again a "Miss." P. S. Many women choose to omit either the Miss or Mrs. from THEIR correspondence — thus adding to the general confusion.

DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about a "Come and see us sometime" type of invitation?

My husband seems to think it is perfectly all right. He is forever dragging me places where we are not expected just because the people have said, "Come and see us sometime." Nine out of ten times it is apparent we have inconvenienced them even though they act polite, and glad to see us. My husband thinks that everyone likes an unexpected company because it wouldn't bother him one bit if folks dropped by our house when the place was a mess and I had nothing to serve. But it would bother me plenty. I can't drive this point home to him. Can you?

UNNERVED

DEAR UNNERVED: A "come and see us sometime" type of invitation should not be taken seriously. When folks really want your company, they call and invite you for a specific time.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Pills Are Not Candy

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.
Despite all warnings, medicines still are the cause of half of all accidental poisonings in children under the age of five. The single leading cause of such severe poisonings is aspirin.

This valuable drug is not usually thought to be hazardous. Yet it can be when taken in large quantities.

There is an over-concentrated drive to make medicines more palatable for children by flavoring them to resemble candy. Vitamins, laxatives, antibiotics, and even barbiturates and tranquilizers have been specially compounded to induce children to believe they are eating candy, not medicines.

Candy is Candy
To children without a differentiating sense, candy is candy, whether or not it may contain medicines. The temptation becomes particularly great for them when parents limit candy because "it's bad for the teeth."

The bathroom medicine cabinet is too commonly used to house shaving lotions, nail polish, deodorants, hair solutions and other delectables. These cabinets are readily accessible to children.

Even toddlers have been known to find their way into these "inaccessible recesses."

Tiny infants, too, may be fed these medical and non-medical substances by slightly older children, who have gotten into share it.

Safety Thoughts
The Council on Rural Health of the American Medical Association embarked on a concentrated educational program to prevent the accidental household poisoning of an estimated half million people yearly. The essential features of the campaign for poison control listed below are urgently recommended.

- 1) Label everything. Don't depend on memory when identification can be made certain so easily.
- 2) Keep all household chemicals, cleaning agents and polishes out of reach of children.
- 3) Keep all medicines, including such common drugs as aspirin, in a locked or inaccessible cabinet.
- 4) Never put a poison or toxic substance in a container designed to hold food — milk bottles, soft drink bottles, cereal boxes, etc.
- 5) Recognize children's curiosity, and the fact that they will eat or drink anything regardless of its flavor.
- 6) Teach children that there are some things that belong to adults only, and the youngsters must leave them alone.

Council Holds Off Action On Market's Traffic Flow

STROUDSBURG — The Stroudsburg Borough Council met in special session last night to consider the problem of traffic flow around the upcoming Third St. A.P. and decided to see what problems actually develop before taking action.

Council asked Mayor Joseph Small to write the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. and tell the company that the borough is willing to cooperate 100 per cent, but that "the problems are not yet defined."

"This is something new," said Police Chief John B. Tretheway. "We don't know which exits or entrances will be most frequently used; we don't know which direction the heaviest shopping traffic will come from."

Agree To Call Engineers

Small then suggested that state engineers be called in to look over the situation and give a recommendation. This was agreed upon and Small was asked to so inform the A.P.

Small said that the A.P. had recommended installing a traffic light at the corner of Third and McConnell Sts., but that he thought traffic might back up on the inter-borough bridge. He added that if it were icy, cars coming over the bridge might slide into the waiting traffic.

In other business, a motion was approved to make a quitclaim deed on the property at Third St. the borough is giving the county for a playground.

The motion was to create an ordinance allowing the deed to be drawn up.

The board also moved to repair sidewalks and curbing along Third and Main Sts.

A motion was carried to draw up a lease granting the Stroudsburg Water Authority 10 years of occupancy of a portion of a large room on the second floor of the municipal building.

Eldred Board Retains Two $5 Per Capita Taxes

KUNKLETON — Eldred Twp. School Board voted last night to retain the two $5 per capita taxes and the one per cent earned income tax in the district.

The vote was unanimous.

The board delayed action on establishing real estate millage in the township. Action will be taken on this matter after the 1964-65 school budget is prepared.

In other business, the board authorized the purchase of a tape recorder and a phonograph. The cost of the items is $253.

Bills totaling $8,641.25 were presented for payment. The board approved them and the checks issued.

Work Starts On Road Near 'Port

MT. POCONO — Work started yesterday on a short stretch of new road between Rt. 611 and old Rt. 611 near Camp Tegawitha and the Mt. Pocono Airport.

Its construction, delayed for months, is needed to allow the Pocono Mountain Airport Authority to barricade part of old Rt. 611 at the end of its major runway.

The Federal Aviation Agency will pay about $22,500 it has been holding up to the airport authority as soon as that road at the end of the runway is closed off.

Clinton Bruch, superintendent of Shiffer Bituminous Service Co. in Stroudsburg, said work started yesterday and estimated it would be finished in "less than two weeks."

Shiffer Has Contract

Shiffer Bituminous has a contract with the Coolbaugh Township supervisors for the work. The county commissioners have agreed to pay 100 per cent of the cost with liquid fuels funds from the state.

Harold B. Kresge, Monroe County Republican chairman and liaison officer in the Allentown office of the State Highway Department, said contracts for the work were approved in Harrisburg last week and mailed from his office Monday to Joseph Regan Jr. of Toiyahanna, secretary of the Coolbaugh Township board of supervisors, and to Bruch at Shiffer Bituminous.

Stroudsburg Man Hurt In Accident

STROUDSBURG — Anthony F. Grasso, 44, of 98 Second St., Stroudsburg, was injured in a two-car collision Tuesday at College Hill, Easton.

Grasso was treated at Easton Hospital for a cut over his left ear. He was taken to the hospital by Patrolman Thomas Monahan in an Easton police car.

The accident occurred when Grasso's car and one driven by Rev. Kenneth H. Smith, 26, of 223 Porter St., collided at the intersection where Cattell Street turns west into College Avenue. Both cars were towed from the scene.

The Rev. Smith is pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church of College Hill.

Lehigh Aide To Speak At ESSC

EAST STROUDSBURG — Robert Bream, associate in the graduate school at Lehigh University, will speak to the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) at East Stroudsburg State College at 7 p.m. today.

"Creative Learning Experiences," will be his topic, according to Ralph Smith, program chairman.

Professor Bream started in the teaching profession 40 years ago in a one-room schoolhouse. Since then he has taught in all levels of education as well as administration.

Presently he is the director of adult education and the Summer Workshop at Lehigh University in addition to his regular teaching.

Professor Bream is chairman of the state committee on consumer education and a member of the state advisory committee on secondary education.

During the year of 1955-56 he went to Australia on the Fulbright Award and later completed a transcontinental tour devoted to education for group participation and leadership.

Kiwanis Hear Talk On Math

STROUDSBURG — Professor Ronald L. Mc Bride of the East Stroudsburg State College addressed the Kiwanis Club of Stroudsburg yesterday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The speaker's subject was "How You Should Have Figured."

Mc Bride discussed the change in the math curriculum in the elementary and high schools that teach modern mathematics.

Stressing the merits of modern math, the speaker told of the importance for the student to understand the structure of the system learned mechanically in comparison to the student who learns the mechanics of traditional mathematics.

The program chairman was Atty. Delfino A. Hansen.

Guests attending the meeting were David Ball of Allentown and Robert Trusal.

(Coffman & Meyung Studio)

Three Queens To Appear In Tonight's Variety Show

Buck Hill Falls — Three reigning queens will present their talents in the musical variety show tonight in the auditorium of The Inn, Buck Hill Falls, 8 p.m.

The queens are Miss Patricia Lee Falcinelli, "Miss Poconos 1961"; Miss Suzanne Rossi, "Junior Miss Pocono Mountains"; and Miss Cheryl Chase, "Little Miss Pocono Mountains".

Miss Falcinelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Falcinelli of Bangor, RD 3, won the title "Miss Poconos" in the recent Miss America preliminary pageant. She will present a dramatic reading, "The Hollow Men" by T. S. Elliot.

Miss Rossi, who chose a ballet routine, "Sixteen, Going On Seventeen" for the show, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Celeste Rossi of East Stroudsburg. She recently represented the area in the Pennsylvania Junior Miss Pageant.

"Little Red Riding Hood" is the title of the dance to be given by Cheryl Chase, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chase of East Stroudsburg. She was chosen "Little Miss Pocono Mountains" in a contest last August.

Also on the playbill are local and professional talents, according to Mrs. Verna Mortimer, director. The show is being sponsored by the American Legion, Evans Bluff Post 922 and Ladies Auxiliary. Proceeds will be used for the building program.

Master of ceremonies will be Ben Varvel of Canadensis, a member of the Legion post. He will announce each act on the bill.

Don Stock, a singer with Arcade Records, and his accompanists, will appear. Also listed is Lemaunt Nauman and his band.

Mrs. John Nauman will be assisted by Rev. and Mrs. John Roberts in musical selections. The "Beatles" will be spoofed by Bill Neith and Company.

The barbershop quartet, "The Night Owls" with Dayton Frantz will present quartets. The "Lonely Ones," a combo and the "Jet-Fires" with Bill Nauman, Bob Treon and Bob Franks are on the bill.

Also listed are Dolly Price and Son, songs, and Paula Reisewitz Trio, folk songs. The Hamilton Promoters have promised Mrs. Mortimer a surprise in their "Youth Act".

Tickets will be sold at the door with Mrs. Willard Albert in charge. Other members of the post and auxiliary will handle the behind-the-scenes arrangements.

Cub Pack 85 Plans Derby For Cub Kites

Tannersville — Cub Scouts of Pack 85, Tannersville, took a hike on Sunday afternoon. At their recent pack meeting, plans were also made for a kite derby at a later date.

An inspection of the unit was held before the opening ceremonies.

The campfire of Akela formed the background for the presentation of awards.

Four new boys and their parents were welcomed into the pack with the awarding of Bobcat pins to Chris Teada, David Cramer, Ricky Repsher and Elmer Sebring Jr. Scott Rubio was welcomed as a transfer.

Other awards were: wolf badge to Raynard Flad and John Campo; silver arrow, Gregory Peechaka; gold arrow, Barry London; two gold arrows and silver arrow, Terry Martin; a gold arrow and silver arrow to Barry Hartshorn;

Lion badge, Russell Horn and Randy Kresge; lion and gold arrow, Leon Frailey; lion and gold and silver arrow, Gregory Carrier and Joe Derrick; Webelos, Donald Robbins, Stanley Storm and Gregory Wallingford.

Mrs. Jane Sebring was inducted into the pack as a den mother. Donald Robbins, Martin Likewise and Elmer Sebring were welcomed as Webelos leaders.

Skills were presented by Den 2 with Mrs. Joyce Robbins and Mrs. Cecile London as den mothers and Den 3 with Mrs. Doris Hallet and Mrs. Jane Sebring as den mothers.

Each boy was given information on the American Heritage program to be held in July. One of the requirements for each boy is to write on the Cub Scout theme "Why I Love America".

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Scranton — Impressive enough to frame. Over coffee you were free to mingle with women from every area of the country and found all of them warm, friendly and sincerely concerned about America, about their respective states and about you.

It occurred to many a furrowed brow that each state has similar problems but with a different accent.

There were twenty-five major speeches in the space of four days. To hear the cream of Republican speakers on a national level shaping into words the essence of their years of experience, probings, directions and hopes for the future — this was a tremendous and valuable education.

Most of the 2,500 listeners had attended, obviously, out of serious concern and not, as might have been the case, to parade in spring finery.

Keynote Speakers

Keynote speakers were as follows: Senators Margaret Chase Smith, Barry Goldwater, Everett M. Dirksen, Peter H. Dominick (Colo.), Roman L. Hruska (Neb.) and Thurston B. Morton (Ky.).

Congressmen Charles A. Halleck (Ill.) and Bob Wilson, (Cal.).

Governors John Anderson, Jr. (Kans.), John H. Chafe (R. I.), John A. Love (Colo.), Nelson A. Rockefeller (N.Y.), George Romney (Mich.) and Robert E. Smylie (Idaho).

Also John Davis Lodge, former U.S. Ambassador to Spain, brother of Henry Cabot Lodge.

William E. Miller, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, was the headliner at the giant GOP Party Jubilee at the Washington Coliseum with 7,000 in attendance. Can you imagine 7,000 people at a box supper? Our forefathers would never believe it!

Other speakers were Mrs. Claire Chennault, widow of the general; Mrs. Dorothy E. Elston, president of National Federation of Republican Women and Mrs. Elly M. Peterson of the National Committee who is a 1964 candidate for U.S. Senate in Michigan, plus six other titleholders in the national arena.

Highlight Appearances

Not to be overlooked is the distinct personality of Senator Dirksen whose cartoons look more like him than he does.

Or the color that Barry Goldwater brought into the room, and the Arizona delegation dressed in dazzling gold and white cowgirl outfits with white felt sombreros marked "Goldwater." When he spoke, they burst into cheers and tears and "We want Barry!"

Governor and "Happy" Rockefeller also created quite a stir. Their huge delegation wore white "Rocky" derbies and blue and white banners.

Four days packed with all this plus gala receptions, Washington's historical treasures, an hour of solemnity at General MacArthur's funeral procession,

Cream Of GOP Pours Thoughts For National Conference

By Mrs. Nancy Shukaitis
Secretary, Monroe County Republican Committee

The 12th Annual Republican Women's Conference was held at the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington, D. C., April 8 through 11.

Twenty-five hundred women from the fifty states gathered to learn more about the current "American scene," national and international issues, pointers on assisting on the home front and an opportunity to meet fellow citizens, leaders and representatives of government.

It was an honor to represent Monroe County Republican Women and to be sponsored by the Monroe Council of Republican Women.

They will be happy to know that Pennsylvania had the second largest delegation, New York being first.

The Keystone State manned a special headquarters in the hotel where all of Pennsylvania's virtues were spread in photographs, leaflets, brochures, Hershey bars, bowls of shiny red apples and smiles.

Showing great confidence in our chosen governor, another suite was dedicated to "Scranton for President!" and there you could pick up many reprinted articles about the Governor, lapel buttons, bumper stickers, and an 8 x 10 sketch of Mr.

Scranton impressive enough to at 7 a.m. walk through Arlington National Cemetery, a midnight Senate flight over the food stamp and cotton-wheat bills, tea and cookies with Hugh Scott, hands playing your State song, sherry with Mary Scranton, sauterne with Mr. Rockefeller, violins for breakfast — what more could one ask for?

An invitation to another conference, please! and thank you!

Speech Memorabilia

Singing out big moments in speeches, a salient point came home when Henry Lodge pointed to the Biblical admonition, "Seek and ye shall find." Not, "Sit there and I'll bring it to you."

Mrs. Romney — when she noted we determine our greatness by the materialistic statistics that we make up 6 percent of the world's people produce 50 percent of the world's goods.

Conversely, we spent $20 billion dollars on crime last year without batting an eyelash but screamed to high heaven over the $10 billion dollars needed for education.

"Until we realize that our only wealth of consequence is the number of superior men and women we produce, we have stooped to the materialistic statistics the Communists use," Mrs. Romney said.

Goldwater — "The country that can sell anything to anybody can't sell freedom even to our own people in our country."

Rockefeller — "Are we so sophisticated that we don't need the values upon which this nation was founded?"

Mrs. Chennault — "The future of the free world is being determined in Asia right now."

While we sit in meetings and conferences talking, the Communists are marching on."

Mrs. Evelyn Reynolds, Negro poet of Philadelphia — "We cannot talk about freedom denial in Berlin while we deny freedom in Alabama. Our country is being questioned around the world about the 20 million Negroes in this country."

Mr. Halleck — "If the Communists are no threat to our country, why are we spending $50 billion dollars a year for national defense?"

Mrs. Ann Tutthill, State Chairman of Farm Committee in New York — "We are concerned that the Secretary of Agriculture has absolutely no experience in agriculture; the Secretary of Agriculture must come from agriculture."

Mrs. Tutthill condemned the passage of the cotton-wheat bills as opening the door to passage of similar laws applying to other farm products — milk — and voiced strong disapproval of the Federal Government's move to subsidize agriculture.

"We ask for those rights given in the Constitution; for the right to try, the right to win, the right to fail and, if we fail, the

Bangor Man Takes Bride In Jersey

Lyndhurst, N.J. — Miss Marylin Mauro became the bride of Philip J. Falcone, of Lyndhurst, N.J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas P. Falcone of 507 N. Seventh St., Bangor on April 4. Miss Mauro is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mauro of North Arlington, N.J.

Rev. John Hajduk officiated at the ceremony in the Sacred Heart Church, Lyndhurst.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin and Alencon lace, which featured an Empire waistline and lace edged scoop neck. Bracelet length sleeves were edged with matching lace inserts. A Dior rose held her bouffant veil of imported French silk illusion which cascaded to three-quarter length. She carried a white orchid and stephanotis.

Miss Philomena Falcone, maid of honor, wore an ice blue chiffon gown with an embroidered jacket. She wore a matching ice blue crown and carried blue roses.

Mr. Falcone is a graduate of Bangor High School and East Stroudsburg State College. He is a faculty member of North Arlington High School.

Mrs. Falcone is employed by Etna Casualty & Surety Co., in Newark, N.J.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

ACADEMY AWARD NIGHT is over once again, and many of us here at Wyckoff's (where we discuss everything from A-zales to Z-ithers every lunch hour) are agreed that this year the film industry gave us the finest, best coordinated two-hour spectacle of recent history. Jack Lemmon was a relaxed, personable master of ceremonies; most movie fans were delighted with the winners; and the singers could really sing for a change. Delightful too, were those few moments of unplanned comedy that inched their way into a program that has too frequently been corny and humorless.

For the most part, the gowns were gorgeous and made all fashion-minded women aware of a need to do something about their wardrobes... not on such a glamorous level, of course, but within their means and needs. Debbie Reynolds sparkled; Patty Duke and Julie Andrews were refreshingly cute and natural; Donna Reed was wholesome and lovely; a number of other veteran stars were smartly well preserved, and would have looked ever so much younger had they not posed and preened quite so frantically. One of the evening's funniest moments came when the gentleman representing the company that tabulates the votes, handed the wrong envelope to Sammy Davis, Jr., and Sammy announced a winner for an entirely different category than the one under discussion. His poise was remarkable, and it must have taken a full measure of aplomb to remain calm under the studied gaze of the gentleman who made the error but somehow gave the impression of an English butler looking down his nose upon a throng of peasants. It was marvelous. Sammy is a real trouper... and isn't it nice that right now, during our segregation-integration controversy the Academy honored the work of Sidney Poitier, who is one of the truly outstanding artists of our time? I am pleased about that!

Speaking of movies... I must refer once again to "Cleopatra," winner of an award for scenic design. Anyone from Stroudsburg who sees the film cannot help but be impressed by the great number of pitchers, trays, vases, and other decorative pieces that might have been borrowed from our antique Iranian copper-ware selection here at Wyckoff's. When one sees them used in interior decoration as they are in the picture, one is more than ever impressed with their beauty and elegance.

NEW AT WYCKOFF'S — is a second shipment of those charming linen wall hangings from Denmark retailing at 5.95. The designs are quaint and appealing, showing little girls picnicking, talking together, or demurely amusing themselves singly. They would be ideal in a child's room, and our first selection found a ready market... Looking over the array of men's tie tacs and cuff links, I find something for the young man who believes that it is indeed a "mad, mad, mad, mad world." These are called "Mop Tops", yeah, yeah, yeah. The faces are gold-tone metal. The eyes roll, and each Mop Top has fuzzy hair in red or some other color. Just another example of Beatle-mania in America... In our hosiery department we now have the Panty Hose requested by our customers. These combination panties and stockings come in one shade only—neutral Blush. Run-resistant and long wearing, they are a big favorite with the girl or woman who doesn't care to wear a girdle. Sizes are Petite, Medium, Medium Tall, and Tall. Price? Just 2.50... New, too, is a really impressive shipment of gold and silver plaques of the Last Supper, ranging in price from 15.00 to 35.00. We also have pictures of the same subject in color with gold leaf frames, in a wide variety of prices... Why not shop WYCKOFF'S today?

Stroud Union Edges Bangor With Last-Inning Rally, 4-3

STROUDSBURG—A two-run triple by Mike Thurston and a passed ball with two out in the last inning enabled Stroud Union to score a thrilling 4-3 win over visiting Bangor yesterday in the season's opener for both teams.

Trailing by 3-1 entering the seventh inning, the Mountaineers suddenly came to life

SHERWOOD HEARD, ace Bangor hurler, throws hard fastball in second inning of yesterday's game against Stroud Union. He lasted until the seventh when Mountaineers reached him for two singles and a triple with two out as Slaters bowed, 4-3. (Staff Photo by MacLeod) against Bangor hurler Sherwood Heard. With two down, Ed Yost and Tom Moreken stroked back-to-back singles and Thurston followed with a long wallop over the right fielder's head to bring in the tying run.

Steve Flinta then was brought in to relieve and the third pitch got away from catcher Jim Dietz allowing Thurston to dash in with the winning tally. Tight Battle

It was a tight battle all the way. Stroud Union opened the scoring in the first inning when Thurston walked, Glenn Bisbing singled to deep short and Fred Frantz followed with an RBI single for a 1-0 lead.

That ended the scoring until the fifth as both starting hurlers, scored on a triple to dead center by Dietz.

Lead by 3-1

The Slaters upped the count to 3-1 in the top of the seventh when Parsons unloaded a three-bagger against reliever Frantz and scored on John Heard's single.

Stroud Union then went down to its last out before pushing across the three runs in the bottom half of the final frame.

Frantz picked up the win in his two-inning relief stint while Heard was charged with the loss.

McKinley, Froehling Upset In Tennis

HOUSTON (UPI) — Second-seeded Chuck McKinley and fourth-seeded Frank Froehling fell to upsets Wednesday and the other two top players barely squeaked by in the second round of the River Oaks tennis tournament.

Luis Arilla of Spain cut down McKinley in straight sets, 7-5, 8-6, and Antonio Palafox of Mexico smashed Froehling, 6-4, 6-4 to gain Thursday's quarterfinals. McKinley lives in San Antonio and Froehling is from Coral Gables, Fla.

Call Remarks By Kubek 'Unfortunate'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Judge Robert Cannon, adviser to the Major League Baseball Players' Association, said Wednesday that Tony Kubek's remarks about players' interests in pay television being introduced on the West Coast July 1 were "unfortunate."

The Yankee shortstop was quoted Tuesday as saying that "we ought to get a piece of extra money from pay television since we are the performers who make the show go. We are now closer to a ball players' union than we've ever been before."

Emphasizing that he was speaking only as an individual, Cannon said he felt the "threat of a union" was ill advised.

Sports Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to spell out antitrust exemptions for professional team sports was introduced Wednesday by Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., former president of the Rochester Red Wings of the International Baseball League.

The measure would affect such practices as player drafts, reserve clauses and territorial franchises.

Horton introduced the bill in response to Supreme Court decisions which he said urged Congress to clarify the relationship of professional team sports with the antitrust laws.

Prepares For Major Leagues

ATLANTA (AP) — Construction started Wednesday on an $18 million stadium which is expected to bring major league baseball to Atlanta in 1965.

Earlier officials said that a major league team has agreed to a long-term lease of the 50,000-seat stadium, but the team can not be identified until the end of this season.

Eastburg Ties Pleasant Valley

BRODHEADSVILLE — East Stroudsburg's Cavaliers pushed across a run in the top of the seventh inning yesterday to salvage a 5-5 tie against Pleasant Valley in the season's opener for both ball clubs.

The Eastburg nine was coasting with a 4-1 lead after four innings of play when the Bears of Coach Art Smith suddenly erupted for a four-run burst in the fifth to gain a 5-4 lead.

Pleasant Valley gained that advantage as Ron and Bob Dorshimer singled and Roger Borger walked to load the sacks. Lambert was safe on a fielder's choice as the first run crossed the plate. Then Ken Bowman

At Race Track

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Sid Abel of the Detroit Red Wings lost $18 at the races Monday, but he figures the loss put him in good position in the tussle with the Toronto Maple Leafs for the Stanley Cup.

The teams, even at a game apiece in the best-of-seven series, will meet in the third game Thursday.

Gonzalez HR Topples Mets

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tony Gonzalez' eighth-inning homer, following an error, drove in three unearned runs and gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 4-1 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday night.

The blast broke up a pitching duel between winner Jim Bunning and Tracy Stallard. Bunning winning his first game as a National Leaguer, checked the Mets on seven hits and struck out 11.

Bunning spent nine years in the American League with Detroit.

Forerunner Betless Again?

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Forerunner Purse, horse racing's biggest little producer of Kentucky Derby winners, could be a betless exhibition Friday at Keeneland for the second straight year.

The Forerunner is only a $10,000 race, but seven of the past 15 Derby winners have used it as a prep.

El Peco Ranch's Hill Rise, co-favored with Northern Dancer for Derby honors this year, plans to start in the race and his presence is likely to frighten off the competition.

Last year, it was Never Bend who did the frightening in the Forerunner. Only four other horses, including stablemate Running Bowline, went against Never Bend and the Cain Hoy colt breezed to victory.

But Never Bend had to take second place in the Derby, a quarter length behind Chateaugay.

Six Forerunner winners have taken the roses in the Derby and Decidedly, who finished second in the prep here, won the Churchill Downs classic.

Before 1960 it was called by other names, but the conditions of the race were the same: seven furlongs for 3-year-olds with nominees for the Blue Grass Stakes preferred.

Most Blue Grass nominees also are on the list of eligibles for the Derby.

Calumet Farm's Ponder began the Forerunner-to-Derby winner's circle trail in 1949 and two years later, another Calumet colt, Hill Gail, turned the same trick.

Frank Schulte of the 1907-08 Chicago Cubs was the first player to hit safely in his first 10 World Series games.

Babe Ruth hit 15 World Series home runs.

NEW YORK (AP)—A shortage of first-rate 3-year-olds in the East this spring apparently has turned Saturday's $75,000-added Wood Memorial at Aqueduct into a race to see if there's much hope for the section's Kentucky Derby hopefuls.

The Wood, at 1 1/4 miles, normally is considered the big pre-Derby test in the East. This year, out of eight or 10 possible Wood starters, there are perhaps a half dozen who could earn a trip to Louisville by an outstanding performance. They won't get there by running a mediocre race.

One is Paul Mellon's Quadrangle.

Trainer Elliott Rutch said Quadrangle will be sent to the Derby if he fares well in the Wood, "but we wouldn't go just to be in it. We've been three before."

Another prime prospect is Reginald Webster's Traffic, who was nosed out by Kentucky-bound Mr. Moonlight in the Gotham two Saturdays ago.

Other likely Wood starters are Mr. Brick, Roman Brother, winner of the Bahamas and Everglades at Hialeah, Chieftain and Knightly Manner. Each will carry 126 pounds and are related about even.

Budde Refuses To Prosecute

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ed Budde, a football player for the Kansas City Chiefs, said Wednesday he does not want to prosecute two men who beat him March 5 at a cocktail lounge.

Budde's skull was fractured in two places. He was released from the hospital recently but will return there early in May to have a plastic plate inserted in his skull.

Prosecutor Lawrence Genford said he may dismiss the assault charges filed against the men, Gus Charles Fasone and John Vito Calla, both 27.

West Poconos Unit Hear Talk On Loans

BLAKESLEE — Donald V. Dimmick, assistant vice president of the First Stroudsburg National Bank in Stroudsburg, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Western Pocono Vacation Assn. Tuesday night in the Bench Motel, Blakeslee.

Dimmick's topic was loans, interest and valuation of new property.

In other business a committee was named to meet with highway officials in Allentown to discuss route signs in the Stroudsburg area. Some club members say the signs erected are confusing to tourists coming into the area.

A second committee was named to plan a hootenanny and an annual dinner-dance. The committee will make its report at the meeting, Tuesday, May 12, in Chestnuthill Inn, McIlhenny, at 8 p. m.

Swiss Exchange Student Rotary Ladies Night Guest

NEWFOUNDLAND — When the Rotary Club gathers for the Ladies Night on April 20 at Green's Restaurant, the special guests of the club will be Camille Foetisch, Swiss exchange student who has been living here since August, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Foetisch, of Lausanne, Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Foetisch flew to New York and then to Florida, where they met Camille and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Urdel, who had also flown to the southeast state. The Urdels were Camille's first host home in the area.

Camille and her parents then flew to Washington, D.C. where they visited points of interest, and the exchange student then came back to Newfoundland while her parents remained for a longer stay at the nation's capital.

When the Foetisches arrive here, they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Gilpin, Greentown, where Camille is now living. They will be joined by the Rev. and Mrs. Larry Lindenmuth, with whom Camille lived for three months.

They will attend the District 741 Conference of Rotary International at Pocono Manor on April 24, 25 and 26, when they and the Gilpins will be guests at the resort hotel during the three-day conference.

ESSC Aides At Parley In Washington

EAST STROUDSBURG — A delegation of foreign language professors from East Stroudsburg State College will attend the 1964 Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Language on April 17 and 18 in Washington, D.C.

Department Chairman, Dr. Ruth B. Kistler, and Professors Mary E. Hartman and Arthur E. Arnold II, will attend the conference.

The teaching of foreign languages on the elementary, secondary, and collegiate level will be the subject of the two-day meeting.

Bear Came To Dinner

ROEMERVILLE — "The Bear Who Came To Dinner" is currently making the rounds, and everybody's wondering what will happen when he discovers the beehives at the Oscar Gossamer place!

Actually, the native black bear has become somewhat of an expected guest at most of the homes in the area, since he arrives in time for supper every night. What's more, he stretches out across the porch steps and munches away on whatever has been passed out for that day's snack.

The bear, about three years old and quite "foxy," has been spotted peering in windows and doors, evidently confirming his suspicion that the folks inside may be faring better than he.

One resident, George Brown, attempted to take his picture. Mr. Brown, placed bread on the front porch and went inside to wait. One minute, the bread was there; the next minute it was gone. Perplexed, Mr. Brown stepped out on the porch and nearly fell over the bear, who had reclined on the porch to enjoy his supper.

Flood Raps Taylor's Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., took issue with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor when the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff testified on South Viet Nam before a House subcommittee last week.

Taylor told a Feb. 17 session of the subcommittee he opposes the use of American troops as the direct means of suppressing guerrillas in South Viet Nam "under all circumstances that I can think of."

Flood wasn't satisfied with the general's testimony.

The Pennsylvanian said there was a division of command in South Viet Nam between the United States and the government of that Asian country.

Stubborn Lilac Bush Exasperating

LILACS: Few things are more exasperating than a stubborn lilac bush. There are several reasons why a lilac will fail to flower: Too much shade, dry, gravelly soil, plants may be too close to trees or shrubs, improper planting (roots not spread out), severe dry weather in late summer after the buds have formed, too many suckers at the base to rob parent plant of food and water, to name a few reasons.

Some lilacs have an alternate habit of bearing; that is, they bear profusely one year, then sparsely, or none at all the following year. Nothing can correct this.

Sooner or later all lilacs will bloom. They are among the toughest of all ornamentals. Drive by an abandoned farm house, or one that burned down years ago and you'll find that the original plantings of lilacs are still there.

Any one who's never seen the handsome 22-acre lilac collection in Rochester, N.Y., has a treat coming. This city has the world's largest collection of lilacs and in late May thousands attend Lilac Time Festival.

If you'd like a colored bullet-in on lilacs, prepared by the Lilac Time Committee, send me your name and address (no self-addressed, stamped envelope necessary) and I'll see that you get your copy.

The guide has good advice on fighting scales, borers, mildew, and leafminers, and tells how to prune lilacs for best show. The guide has other good information in it for those who wish to stop thru on their way to the world's fair.

ROSES UNDER GLASS: Gardeners who cut the bottom from glass jugs last year and started roses from cuttings are now wondering when the glass should be removed. If the slips have a good healthy set of roots, you can dig (gently) each rooted cutting, and move it to a permanent location.

Make sure it gets plenty of water, especially on hot days. If the roots are small, better protect the new plant with a plastic collar or use a bottomless milk container. If you don't the baby plants are apt to die in the hot sun and strong wind. A little liquid plant food is helpful for a quicker boost, but do not add a strong chemical type since it will burn the roots.

BABY'S BREATH: If you like "fillers" for your flower arrangements, try growing some annual gypsophila. Sow seed outdoors in the garden where the plants are to remain and thin them to 3 or 4 inches apart. If you make a succession sowing every two weeks you'll have bloom throughout the summer. Seed germinates fast and flowers come within a few weeks.

The perennial gypsophila also makes a wonderful filler for arrangements. It comes up each year and lends a "misty" look to your garden.

Bristol Fairy is a double flowered plant and it's a grafted type. However, you can sow seed of singles and doubles. Seed from double - flowering plant produces a considerable number of single plants.

GRAPE RECIPES: Several readers have written to ask me for grape recipes. Since grape growing is a hobby of mine, I'm making a collection of recipes and hope to put them in a free bulletin for you.

Meanwhile, will you please send me your recipe for using grapes for desserts, preserves, beverages (Non - alcoholic, please) or any other way. We'll put your suggestions in a booklet and offer it free later on.

MAPLE LEAVES: What causes young maple leaves to curl before they have a chance to open fully? This trouble is due to a leaf roller insect which causes the leaves to roll. There is also a leaf tier which ties young leaves with silken threads. These can strip a tree completely before the leaves are half open.

Control: Spray your tree with malathion as soon as you can. Don't wait until the pests are hatched inside the curled or webbed leaves as you're apt to miss them with the spray.

While we're on the subject of spraying, I'd like to pass along a few tips on the safe use of Garden pesticides. Always read the label first. Never keep chemicals in anything but the original container.

PV Teacher Receives Fellowship

BRODHEADSVILLE — Lee Costenbader, science teacher at Pleasant Valley Joint High School, Brodheadsville, has been named the recipient of a fellowship at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y.

He will be enrolled for four consecutive summers, and when graduated will receive a masters degree in Natural Science.

Costenbader is a graduate of Polk Twp. High School. He is a graduate of East Stroudsburg State College, Class of 1963. His major field is chemistry. His minor field is mathematics.

Before coming to Pleasant Valley High School he taught chemistry and physics at Easton High School.

Unfortunately there is no directive for safety in this picture except the fine print on the label of chemical products, with in some instances an indifferent attitude toward self-protection by the user.

Husband Of Former S-burg Resident Good-Will Envoy

USS POLLUX — Navy Commander Wesley J. McClaren, husband of the former Miss Barbara G. Altomosa of 717 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, participated in a good-will visit recently by the U.S. general stores issue ship USS Pollux to the city of Takamatsu, Japan. The visit was made to strengthen friendly relations between America and Japan.

He helped in constructing playground equipment while the ship was enroute from the Philippines to this city which is not frequently visited by U.S. Navy ships.

The Pollux-built playground consisted of swings, monkey bars, seesaws, a horseshoe pit and a volleyball court. This equipment was presented to the children of Kameyama Orphanage in a dedication ceremony by Captain Vining A. Sherman, Commanding Officer of Pollux. The Governor of Kagawa Prefecture, the Honorable Masanori Kaneka, participated in this dedication.

The Governor praised the Pollux sailors for their meaningful contribution and said it was an example of American generosity and unselfish giving to the needy.

Pollux crewmembers were then taken by the Governor on a tour to Honjima Island where a temple, cemetery and museum stand in memory of the 30-man crew of the Japanese ship "Kanjin Maru."

"Kanjin Maru" was the first Japanese ship to cross the Pacific. Its voyage in 1860 carried the first cargo exchanged between Japan and America under the Japan-American Trade Treaty.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK — D. R. of Gilbert: "Why is it our modern vegetables don't taste as good as our old ones? Today's tomatoes taste terrible and our corn is no better. Why can't we go back to the old-fashioned varieties and get flavor?"

This question comes to me real often, and the best answer I can give is that our modern day varieties are better. One point to remember is that there are vegetable varieties in wide use that don't taste good; one example is the tube tomatoes.

Many vegetables grown commercially have built-in features that make them better able to stand handling and shipping, and this often lowers their quality.

If it were not for these features, we would not be able to buy fresh vegetables all year round as we can today.

John Baer tomato and Golden Bantam sweet corn are two vegetables old-timers swear by. To them, they are the best. However, if you held a Red Jacket or a Moreton Hybrid tomato in one hand and a John Baer in the other and tasted both, you'd find a great improvement over the old John Baer type.

That's how plant breeders do it. They grow many varieties side by side and compare their flavor on the spot, and they have instruments which actually measure sweetness and tenderness, two features of high quality.

Another thing to remember: our taste buds lose their sensitivity as we grow older, just as our other faculties decline. Things just don't taste as good (if we like them) or as bad (if we don't) as they did when we were younger.

In general, our modern vegetables are bred for flavor taste better than their counterparts of the past. Choose a vegetable variety recommended for your home garden, and when you get a good one stick to it. You'll enjoy quality your grandparents never knew.

A. D. of Warnertown: "We have tiny black flies buzzing around our house plants! I loosed some soil and found little worms in the dirt. Will these do any harm?"

You have fungus gnats. The young maggots in the soil are hatched from eggs laid by the black flies you see buzzing around.

Dust the soil with any insecticide, and spray the plants with an aerosol spray. Normally, the flies and the legless maggots in soil are harmless.

F. R. of White Haven: "Please tell us how we can start a pineapple plant from a cutting." Cut the top off and place it in a pot of sand and peat moss, just enough to cover the bottom. Rotting takes place in a couple of months. After that, place in a pot of soil, one-third sand, one-third loam and one-third peat moss. Do not overwater.

Honeymoon In Poconos Reactivates Area Business

LA ANNA: When the "Under New Management" sign appears at a business establishment, it usually indicates sweeping changes. But at Holley Ross Pottery, in LaAnna, Pike County, the sign means one thing: a new owner and a continuation of one of the best policies in the world—"create a fine product and give something extra!"

Holley Ross Pottery, (officially the Holley Ross China Company) was formed in 1945. Its story really began, however, when Ernest Smith joined the English and American Clay Mining Company in 1921.

For six years, he surveyed and dispatched cargoes arriving at Atlantic Coast ports, and also at Great Lakes ports. Then came four years of training at Coal Port Pottery in Trenton, New Jersey, supplemented by study under Dr. Brown, director of the Ceramics Department of Rutgers University.

Next came 13 years as service man or "jack of all trades," when the local man acted between the company and their customers. Headquarters for the Smiths was uncertain, with much moving about required by the job. But, for the most part, Ohio and the Ohio pottery interests were the center of attraction.

The decision to leave the mining company came about because of the long periods of time during which Mr. Smith and his family had to be separated. Starting his own business was another incentive, and he chose his wife's home town, LaAnna, in the heart of the "summer boarding" business, as the site. At LaAnna, Smith started a distributing business in china and pottery, in 1945, trucking ware from the various pottery plants and selling to florists, jewelers and gift shops in ten counties in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey. Five salesmen joined the staff of the flourishing business.

Expansion Of Staff
Expansion of staff meant expansion of the building, which is located in a scenic spot along the banks of the tumbling Wallepaupack Creek. Then came a beginning in decorating ware with his own patterns; the building of kilns; and making ware from raw materials, both glaze and body.

A trademark was discussed, and the Smiths decided on a combination of their sons' names: Holley and Ross, surrounded by a holly leaf.

The boys earned their clothing and spending money by selling the company's "seconds" in a small section of the building. Later, as they finished their schooling and determined their choice of interests and vocations, they decided not to enter the field in which their father had been so successful.

Opportunity The Answer
Illness and pressures of the growing business combined to convince the Smiths that they should retire. And that is the second part of the Holley Ross Story.

Sam and Charlotte Laing, now "at home" as the new owners of Holley Ross Pottery, fell in love with the Poconos during their honeymoon stay at Fernwood, near Bushkill. Charlotte Gregor Laing, of Byersville, Ohio, and her husband were convinced that the Pocono Mountains were the place to live. The business opportunity at Holley Ross was the answer.

Sam Laing came to Holley Ross last year from Ohio, where he had been educated at Heights High School in Cleveland, and Kent State University. He served for nearly two years in Korea, and then returned to Ohio where he was associated with his brother-in-law in the Zanesville Pottery Company. Seven years of experience there in the creation of pottery and other facets of the industry gave him a good background for making the pottery business his vocation.

Decorating
Settled in the Poconos, the Laings busied themselves in their work, with Charlotte doing decorating and assisting in retail and business details, and Sam making the ware and giving the free demonstrations each day. They are expanding the stock, varying the lines displayed, and trying out new decorating ideas, and plan to continue the free demonstrations started by Mr. Smith, which have attracted and instructed thousands of visitors each summer.

Displayed at the pottery showroom are the distinctive "weeping gold" china, originally devised by Smith; the lustre finish; the various forms of white glazed ware.

Holley Ross china and pottery are created from a "secret formula" evolved by Mr. Smith and passed on to the Laings. But perhaps the greatest secret recipe for success in the business at LaAnna is the policy of creating a fine product; adding a free demonstration; building a park and lake for the enjoyment of visitors who come to Holley Ross.

In Smith's terse statements, this secret recipe is: "One must give to get. This we did." And this the Laings plan to continue.

11 Paintings Donated To E-Burg High

EAST STROUDSBURG — Eleven paintings have been donated to the East Stroudsburg Area Junior-Senior High School and are being exhibited throughout the school.

The class made $400 available to Mrs. Vnl. Heller, school art director, who selected the paintings.

Pictures on display are "Autumn in Paris," by Casella; "Northwester," by Thleme; "Cornfields and Cypress Trees," by Van Gogh; "In the Meadow," by Renoir; "Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer," by Rembrandt; "Stone City," by Grant Wood.

Also "Le Port de Canoe" by DesChamps; "Statue of Liberty," by Haymon; "U.N. Secretariat," by Haymon; "Navajo Family," by DeGrazia; and "Fisherman's Children," by Valndie.

Officers of the class of 1956 are James Terrill, president; Richard Gray, vice president; Barbara Harvey, secretary; and Bernice Kirchhofer, treasurer.

Farm Land Value Rises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm land values in Pennsylvania increased 3 per cent during the year ended Nov. 1, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Friday. This compared with the national average of 6 per cent and a 13 per cent upturn in Louisiana, the national leader.

Servicemen's Corner

Lambert Serving In Germany

U.S. ARMY, EUROPE — Army PFC Arlington E. Lambert, whose wife, Ruth lives in East Stroudsburg, is serving with the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment in Germany.

The members of Lambert's unit maintain constant surveillance of the sensitive East-West German border through the use of jeep-mounted patrols and observation and listening posts.

Lambert is assigned to the regiment's Aviation Company near Fulda, Germany. He entered the Army in April 1961 and arrived overseas in October 1961.

The 25-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell O. Lambert, 585 Main St., Stroudsburg, attended Stroud Union High School. Before entering the Army he was employed by Tru-Matic Machine & Tool Company.

Sgt. Brink Serving At Cherry Point

CHERRY POINT, N.C. (FHTNC) — Marine Sergeant Donald P. Brink, son of Mrs. J. W. Brink of East Stroudsburg, is serving with Marine Aerial Refueler Transport Squadron 252 of the Second Marine Aircraft Wing based at Cherry Point, N.C.

The squadron provides refueling and support to the wing and other Fleet Marine Force units.

The station, headquarters for the Second Marine Aircraft Wing and other Marine air units, provides air support for the infantrymen of the Atlantic Fleet Marine Force at nearby Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Harriton Navy Air School Grad

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Joseph Harriton, aviation maintenance administrationman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harriton of Mt. Pocono, graduated recently from Aviation Maintenance Administration School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

He studied typing, publications and aircraft maintenance systems, aircraft accounting, logs and records, airplane receipt and transfer, engineering accounting and operations.

The school is designed to provide aviation commands with trained personnel to meet the ever increasing problems in aviation maintenance administration.

"They're good neighbors! Who? The Burnsteads. Why? Because they give you a sure laugh every day at family and living. You'll find them at BLOOMING every day in The Daily Record."

PVT. BARRY F. Weirich, 22, of Pocono Pines has completed basic training at Ft. Gordon, Ga. He is at home now on 15 days leave. Weirich will complete his leave on April 17 and return for duty at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The American Public Works Association, through its Research Foundation, has undertaken a $100,000 program to seek practical advanced techniques of snow removal.

Molyneau Starts Basic

GREAT LAKES, Ill. — Ronald G. Molyneux, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Molyneux of 1 Taylor St., East Stroudsburg, has begun basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine-week training includes naval orientation, history and organization, seamanship, ordnance and gunnery, military drill, first aid and survival.

During the training recruits receive tests and interviews which determine their future assignments in the Navy. Upon completing the program they are assigned to service schools for technical training or to ships and stations for on-the-job training in a Navy rating specialty.

Naval training produces the power in seapower by supplying qualified personnel to man the ships, planes, and shore stations of today's Navy.

Unearthing the cause of contact dermatitis is often obtained by careful questioning of the afflicted person, and in many instances a patch test, comparatively simple to use, is of value.

Pen Argyl Set For Single Unit

PEN ARGYL — William E. Madden, supervising principal of the Pen Argyl area schools said this week that a single unit will make for a more workable organization and will eliminate some duplication.

He added, the Pen Argyl Area schools will be reorganized into a one - administrative unit by July 1 as the result of state approval of their petitions to take the step.

He also explained that wherever feasible, he hopes to pool certain resources with the Danbury area or any other neighboring system.

A Pen Argyl official announced an anticipated supplemental reimbursement at about $18,000 for the single unit over the jointure.

A spokesman for the Pen Argyl schools said that a convention of the seven boards in the jointure will be called by the county school superintendent.

At the convention an "interim operating committee" of nine members will be elected from the existing school board members. Under the jointure, the system is operated by a 15-member committee of board members.

Pen Argyl school officials plan to prepare reports to inform the taxpayers of progress of the reorganization, it was announced.

Jointure of the Pen Argyl, Wind Gap and Pottsville Township districts began in 1951 on a partial basis but now is complete.

A jointure is merely a contract under which more than one district jointly operate a school system but each district retains its identity.

The July 1 reorganization will make one single administrative unit with a uniform tax rate and a single budget for the Pen Argyl area.

Under Act 299, reorganization is mandatory by 1965 but the Pen Argyl school district decided to take the step two years ahead of the deadline.

Red Cross Film Series On Tonight

STROUDSBURG — A series of films depicting the work of the American Red Cross will be shown this Thursday at the Stroudsburg YMCA, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The movies, to which the public is invited, will precede the regular monthly meeting of the local Red Cross chapter's Board of Directors.

One of the films to be shown is "A Little Bit More," narrated by Ralph Bellamy. The famous actor asks you to go with him as he visits neighbors who contribute something special to the lives of others. Beyond doing their own jobs well, they are all volunteers in service to their community, each doing "a little bit more."

Another film on the program is "Disaster and You." Made with the cooperation of actual disaster victims, the movie shows the Red Cross in action following hurricanes, tornadoes and floods. This 27-minute film is sponsored as a public service by the Radio Corporation of America and will not be seen on television.

"From the Heart of Town," also to be shown, is the story of the behind-the-scenes community effort that makes the periodic visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile a success.

Final film on the one-hour program will be "A Woman Wrote A Letter." This is the colorful story of the American National Red Cross from its founding in 1881 by Clara Barton to the present, and its world-wide relief operations.

Students Take Part In Parley

EAST STROUDSBURG — Sixteen students from East Stroudsburg State College participated in the inter-collegiate Conference on Government being held in Harrisburg.

The conference this year took the form of a national nominating convention. Student delegations will each submit a plank to be included in a party platform. Additionally, the conference will go through the duplication of a party nominating convention by nominating a prominent political figure for president. Practice in practical politics is the basic theme of the convention.

East Stroudsburg State College student delegation attending the conference includes James Cahill, Tim Chalmers, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Chalmers, 94 Center Ave., Mt. Pocono; Maryann Croshaw, Sue Dotson, Robert Fraim, Kathy Heller, Kathy Langan, Karen McCandless, Art Morath, Charles Meredith, Frank Puccio, James Saxton, Tony Reduzzi, Joan Snyder and Paul Heller.

Cy Barrett Says

No Crystal Ball

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.
DEAR CY:
From what I have heard, police crime labs and the FBI employ experts in reading character through handwriting. Do you know of any colleges or universities offering courses in handwriting analysis? I am thinking about reading handwriting as a career.

DEAR DOTTIE:

When the FBI and police document examiners analyze the contents of this column, they will gag on your reference to their work as "reading character." According to skilled experts, viewing handwriting for this purpose is akin to palmistry, numerology and astrology.

Document examiners learn to study the style of writing, type of paper, ink, writing instrument, and other elements connected with handwriting specimens.

They are blotters for mechanical, chemical and other scientific knowledge necessary for solving crimes and appraising documents. No colleges or universities teach this art and no home study courses in it are accredited by the National Home Study Council. (The largest police departments have only a handful of document examiners.) Novices gain experience through working alongside skilled professionals.

After many years, they may also gain stature as experts. If you can divorce yourself from the emotional overtones of handwriting, you may wish to read: "Scientific Examination of Documents" (Hilton), "Questioned Documents" (Ashmore), "Evidential Documents" (Conway), and "Suspected Documents" (Harrison). Reading character through handwriting may be good clean party fun, but it is a hard way to make money.

DEAR CY:
While shopping this morning, I bought cereal and soap boxes labelled "large size," "economy size" and "family size." When will it all end? I hardly think there are any fancy size

DEAR DOTTIE:

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Scranton Administration said this week it was considering several proposals for eliminating the so-called "State insurance" gray train.

Among those mentioned were the setting up of a college scholarship fund and the building of a new governor's mansion. Administration aides said that Gov. Walter E. Alesandroni was asked for an opinion on whether either of the proposals would violate the state constitution.

DEAR JAKE:

After 48 months, and no sale, something is rotten or dreadfully ripe in regard to selling this property. Get a competent real estate broker and have an appraisal made. You may have overbuilt and plunked too much money into the property in relation to your locality. (As this is not income producing, but a high priced home, you have few prospects to work on.)

DEAR JAKE:

Your broker may be able to work out an exchange for a smaller unit, with you taking a mortgage as part of the trade. This will have the advantage of extracting some of your investment. There may also be tax advantages in an exchange deal.

For answers to your Personal Business Questions, write Cy Barrett, c/o this newspaper. Include stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

DEAR L. SHOPPER:

Grocery product manufacturers haven't begun to use olive-size names yet. Olive packers state their sizes as: "Extra Large," "Mammoth," "Jumbo," "Colossal," and "super colossal." I don't envision any shortage of superlatives for our economy in the foreseeable future.

DEAR CY:

Can you tell me how to go about getting money out of our home? We have at least $64,000 in it. There is a large recreation room, five bedrooms, dining room, 2-1/2 baths. It is located one mile from a small town, and I have been trying to sell it for four years without success.

New Members Inducted Into E-Burg Honor Group

EAST STROUDSBURG — The induction ceremony for newly elected members of the National Honor Society of the East Stroudsburg Senior High School took place Tuesday at a special high school assembly.

Immediately after the assembly, the senior high school faculty and parents of the society's members were guests of honor at a reception given by the society in the high school's home economics suite.

At the assembly, Thomas Seese, president of the society, explained that election to membership is by the entire senior high school faculty which bases its selection upon character, service, leadership, and scholarship. The president then introduced Dr. Eugene Powers, Head of the Education Department of the East Stroudsburg State College, who spoke on the topic, "Things Money Can't Buy."

A musical selection, Sara-bande and Corrente by Corelli, was presented by the school's Chamber Choir directed by Robert Zoller. Members of the choir included Lee Pollan, Terence Lantz, Linda Laubach, Nancy Fritz, Thomas Seese and Barbara Michaels.

Organist for the professional and recreational of all the honor society members and for the Alma Mater sung by the entire assembly, was Constance Buras.

As an added feature of the assembly, the Supervising Principal, Carl Secor, presented the Grand Championship Trophy of the Lehigh Valley Science Fair to Charles Buzni, a high school junior.

Serving as chairman of committees in charge of arrangements were Elaine Bernbaum, Invitation Committee; Alana Sterner, Hostess Committee; and J. D. Lantz, Stage Arrangement. Faculty adviser to the group is Mrs. Martha Martin.

The following new members were inducted: David Cortright, Fred Courtright, Douglas Hilyard, Regina Kimball, Elaine Kymor, Agnes Livezey, Susan Miller, Suzanne Ross, Robyn Roth, Grant Terrill, Sherry Ballard, Linda Bosman, Charles Buzni, Kathryn Butz, Ronald Decker, Judy Detrick, Nancy Ellenberger, Jane Kirk, J. D. Lantz, Linda Laubach, Susan Peters, Royale Ritter and Amy Wunder.

12 Area Students Cited For ESSC Academic Work

EAST STROUDSBURG — Twelve regional students were among 31 from East Stroudsburg State College who were honored recently for academic attainment at a special Honors Award Banquet held at the college.

The following students were honored:

Quake Shook Home Of Ex-Resident

EAST STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Clinton L. Hamblin of 98 E. Brown St., East Stroudsburg, has received a letter from her daughter explaining how she and her family survived the Alaska earthquake.

The letter was mailed March 23. The disaster occurred Good Friday, March 27.

Her daughter, Mrs. Anita H. (Hamblin) Rhyner is the wife of Richard R. Rhyner of Anchorage, Alaska. They live six miles out of town where they survived the quake and all its fury.

Richard Rhyner is employed by a telephone company in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Mrs. Rhyner was at home with two of her three children at the time of the quake. One boy was out delivering his newspapers.

Mrs. Rhyner said, "There have been several small shakes over the years, but nothing to really speak about."

However, she added, "This time the house rocked back and forth, and began creaking and cracking. Things fell out of the cupboard and broke everywhere."

She said many of the neighbors experienced the quake also. There was no damage to their house, but the electricity and heat were cut off. Candles were used to provide light while the fireplace was used for heat.

While on the paper route the boys said they saw the power plant power line towers bend towards the earth and practically touch the ground.

Mrs. Rhyner added, "We sat horrified and unbelieving as we listened to the disaster news with our portable radio. Tremors could be felt during the night almost every two hours. Authorities warned us to pack food, clothing and other necessities in our car in case we had to leave our home." It was explained that in the event of another quake they would probably be safer in a car.

Currently planes are flying in the much needed food and medical supplies, she said. Crews are working around the clock to clean up and speed repairs.

"It was a very strange Easter for all of us, we are all so happy and grateful to be alive that the idea of a commercial type of Easter seemed very foreign to say the least."

New Store Opens In Palmer Twp.

STROUDSBURG — A Falk's Food Basket opened yesterday along the William Penn Highway at Stone's Crossing in Palmer Township.

U. S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney and officials from the surrounding area witnessed the ribbon cutting ceremonies.

Oscar Falk, president of Falk's Food Basket of Phillipsburg, N.J., has named Carl D. Attinella manager of the new store. Attinella had previously been the manager of Falk's Food Basket in Forks Township, north of Easton.

The manager of the new discount department store has been with Food Basket for 10 years and has managed Food Basket in Forks Twp. since October, 1962. He is married to the former Frances Piperato. They have three sons and reside at Stone Church, Mount Bethel RD.

Ronald Everett has been named the assistant manager. More than 200 persons will be employed in the 85,500 square-foot store. Parking facilities for 1,000 cars will be provided.

The store, designed on an open plan with central check-outs, permits shopping for food and non-food items and checking out at one point.

Bangor Concert Slated April 22

BANGOR — The Elementary Band of Bangor Area Schools will hold its annual Spring Concert Wednesday, April 22, in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m.

Kenneth Fritz, musical director, said that because of three other musical concerts in May this program will be given free of charge to the public.

During intermission a short Music Boosters meeting will be held. The purpose of the meeting is to decide if the organization, as such, is to continue.

Democrat Raps Otis Morse

HARRISBURG (UPI) — A Dauphin County Democratic leader said this week there might be a move to unseat Otis B. Morse as the party's state chairman at the biennial reorganization meeting of the state committee in June.

Patrick E. Kerwin, vice chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said there is "some degree of dissatisfaction with Morse" to the point that "a number of people would like to relieve Mr. Morse of his position."

Kerwin is considered the actual leader of the Dauphin County Democratic organization, which former County Judge G. Thomas Miller is seeking to oust with Morse's support.

Also, Joyce E. Bosman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bosman of 102 Smith St., East Stroudsburg; Marilyn M. Bomser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Miller of East Stroudsburg RD 2; and Shirley M. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, 310 North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

The banquet was sponsored by the Faculty Committee on Professional Growth and financed by the Student Senate. The program was designed as a professional meeting where the superior students gained recognition for their academic excellence.

Dr. Lefroy J. Koehler, college president, delivered the major address. He commended the students for their present attainment and urged that they continue their research and work in their chosen field.

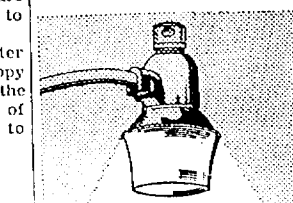

A major portion of the faculty, seated with the students, were present to add individual recognition to the students.

PO of A To Mark 39th Birthday

STROUDSBURG — The Patriotic Order of Americans, (P.O. of A.) Camp 289 will celebrate its 39th anniversary dinner in the Odd Fellows Hall, Main St., Stroudsburg, Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Virginia Simmons, state president of the P. O. of A., and resident of Mt. Pocono, will attend the dinner. Also, Alima Fitch, assistant state of P. O. of A. president will attend.

Approximately 60 members are expected to attend, according to Mrs. Grace Miller, secretary.

DUSK TO DAWN OUTDOOR LIGHTING

PROTECTS YOUR PROPERTY FOR ONLY $4 A MONTH

If you live beyond the limits of regular street lighting, here's your own private outdoor lighting service. On at dusk—off at dawn, it provides these big advantages—

- protects your property—discourages prowlers, thieves and vandals
- prevents accidents—makes steps, garages and driveways safer
- gives your family a sense of security
- sets off the beauty of buildings and property

And you pay just $4.00 a month. No investment—no additional charges. This flat fee includes the lighting fixture itself, complete installation, photoelectric cell to turn it on at dusk and off at dawn, electricity to operate the light, and any necessary maintenance—including replacement of burned-out lamps.

Find out today why Dusk To Dawn lighting is a smart idea for any property owner. Use the coupon below, or call your nearest Metropolitan Edison Company office.
